

PRESS RELEASE

8th September 2011

QUIET DAY AT THE DEEP

Due to popular demand, The Deep is holding its next Quiet Day on Tuesday 20th September. Throughout the day, audio will be turned down to make the attraction more accessible to those with hearing impairments who normally find some of the sounds distracting.

The Deep's Operations Manager, Louise Kirby explains: "We will be making some changes to the audio visuals for the Quiet Day. Sound will be turned down and lighting will be brighter. In addition there will be scheduled signed presentations in British Sign Language throughout. It is an ideal day for deaf and hearing impaired visitors, and those who may just appreciate a more tranquil environment."

The following sessions will be taking place:

- 10.30am - Touch pool session at the Discovery Corner (BSL)
- 11.00am - Endless Oceans presentation (BSL)
- 11.30am - Touch pool session at the Discovery Corner
- 12.00pm - Lagoon feed at the Lagoon of Light (BSL)
- 13.00pm – Lagoon of Light presentation (BSL)
- 13.30pm - Touch pool session at the Discovery Corner (BSL)
- 14.00pm - Endless Oceans presentation (BSL)
- 14.30pm - Touch pool session at the Discovery Corner (BSL)

All signed presentation are indicated with (BSL) as above. We would suggest the following arrival times so that visitors can incorporate all signed presentations and other interactive sessions within your visit.
